COOKIE POLICY

This Cookie Policy (hereinafter referred to as the Policy) is one of the measures taken by the Company to protect personal data as provided for by Article 17 of the Law of the Republic of Belarus No. 99-Z dated May 7, 2021, "On Personal Data Protection". In order to ensure transparency in the processing of personal data, the Company informs you that the website of the BLS Solutions LLC visa application center in the Republic of Belarus (at: https://blsspainbelarus.by, https://blsslovakiavisa.by, https://blscyprusbelarus.by) uses Cookies to improve the use and browsing of web pages, in accordance with the users' browsing habits.

This page describes what information Cookies collect, how we use it, and why we sometimes need to store these Cookies. We also explain how you can prevent these Cookies from being stored; however, such actions may lead to the downgrading or disruption of certain elements of the websites' functionality.

1. What are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files created by a device (computer, smartphone, or tablet) at the time a user visits a website, which allow the Company to store and retrieve certain information about the browsing carried out by the user from their device. Thus, Cookies make it possible not to re-enter or re-select the same parameters upon revisiting the website, such as the choice of language version. Below you can find information about the types of such files and the purposes of their use.

2. Types of Cookies

2.1. In accordance with the organization creating them:

- Cookies belonging to the Company: files sent from the Company's website to the user's device.
- Third-party cookies: files sent to the user's device from web pages that do not belong to the Company, but to another organization that processes data obtained through cookies. Since these cookies belong to third parties, the blocking and deletion of cookies are governed by the specific terms and mechanisms of the third party.

2.2. Depending on the duration of their activity on the user's device:

- Session cookies: a type of cookies created to collect and store data while the user is visiting a website. Such cookies are stored on the user's device until the web page usage session ends.
- Persistent cookies: a type of cookies created to be stored on the device, accessed, and used for a specified period of time (ranging from a few minutes to several years) by the organization that owns the cookie.

2.3. According to the purposes of use:

- Preference cookies for the Company's website: in order to provide you with information about our Cookie Policy, we post a notice on our website. When you click on this notice, we record this and consider it as confirmation that you clearly understand our Cookie Policy and agree to have our cookies installed in your browser. Only after your consent is a cookie installed in your browser. The cookie installed in your browser will help us not to show this banner again during your subsequent visits to our websites over the next year or until our Cookie Policy is revised.

- Technical cookies: allow the user to visit a website or web platform and use various options and services, such as traffic control and data transmission, connection session identification, access to restricted areas, use of security elements during browsing, or storing content for video or sound distribution, or sharing content via social networks such as Twitter, Facebook, Google+, or YouTube. These can be session or persistent cookies. Please note that the correct operation of the website is only possible if technical cookies are used. If they are disabled, you may need to re-select your cookie preferences, website language version, and other settings.
- Personalized cookies: allow users to access the service with specific characteristics in accordance with a set of criteria on the user's device, for example, the type of browser used to access the site, settings depending on where (geographical location) the site is accessed from.
- Analytical cookies: allow us to determine the number of users and perform measurements and statistical analysis of how users use the site.
- Advertising cookies: allow us to use the advertising spaces that may be included on our website as efficiently as possible.
- Behavioral advertising cookies: store information about users' browsing habits obtained through observation. Thanks to them, it is possible to determine browsing habits and display advertisements to users related to the specific features of their browsing habits.

3. Management of Cookies

You can allow, block, or delete cookies installed on your device by configuring settings in your internet browser. Some browsers allow you to visit websites in "incognito" mode to limit the amount of information stored on your computer and automatically delete session cookies.

A personal data subject can delete previously stored cookies by selecting the appropriate option in the browser history.

If you do not allow cookies to be installed in your browser or disable their use, you may not be able to access certain services, and your experience of using our website may become less satisfactory.
